"When you grow up in a place like Chagrin Falls, Ohio," says world famous comedian Tim Conway, "it's a religious experience in itself. Everyone in town cares for you...watches out for you."

Tim Conway's hometown personified Norman Rockwell normalcy Between Sunday services at the community's two churches, the town folk, like a huge family, involved themselves in each other's lives.

At age twelve, Tim had a paper route, tasted chewing gum from the bottom of a chair, and wished he could own a Red Ryder BB gun.

God was a large, mysterious presence in the boy's life. Even though he had no proof that God existed, everybody said He did, and there was no reason to doubt them.

Also looming large in the mind of the Chagrin Falls boy was the annual Blossom Festival, highlighted by the biggest parade of the year and the arrival of the carnival.

Fifty cents jangled in Tim's pocket as he made his way to the midway after Saturday chores. After drinking a Coke and buying a ticket for the Ferris wheel, he conducted a survey of the game booths.

Then he saw it! A white plastic crucifix that glowed in the dark, hanging on a green ribbon. For some unknown reason, its lure was powerful.

For ten cents, Tim had a chance to win the correct numbered plastic duck that was floating in a small pool of water. Three tries produced no results.

On his way home, Tim found a dime on the street. Tim lifted that dime and broke into a trot back to the midway.

Tim paused next to a tree, and placed his head on his arm and decided to test the mysterious power of God.

"Lord..." he hesitated, unsure of the proper words to speak to the Almighty, "I would...really like...that white cross. The one...on the green ribbon...that glows in the dark."

"I kept that cross, I won, under my pillow, and I still have it."

Spring Time Gardening Tips For You

1. To remove the salt deposits that form on clay pots, combine equal parts white vinegar, rubbing alcohol and water in a spray bottle. Apply the mixture to the pot and scrub with a plastic brush.
2. To prevent accumulating dirt under your fingernails while you work in the garden, draw your fingernails across a bar of soap and you'll effectively seal the undersides of your nails so dirt can't collect beneath them. Then, after you've finished in the garden, use a nailbrush to remove the soap and your nails will be sparkling clean.
3. To prevent the line on your string trimmer from jamming or breaking, treat with a spray vegetable oil before installing it in the trimmer.
4. Turn a long-handled tool into a measuring stick! Lay a long-handled garden tool on the ground, and next to it place a tape measure. Using a permanent marker, write inch and foot marks on the handle. When you need to space plants a certain distance apart (from just an inch to several feet) you'll already have a measuring device in your hand.
5. To have a garden twine handy when you need it, just stick a ball of twine in a small clay pot, pull the end of the twine through the drainage hole, and set the pot upside down in the garden. Do that, and you'll never go looking for twine again.
6. To create perfectly natural markers, write the names of plants (using a permanent marker) on the flat faces of stones of various sizes and place them at or near the base of your plants.
7. Little clay pots make great cloches for protecting young plants from sudden, overnight frosts and freezes.

(continue in next column)

8. Got aphids? You can control them with a strong blast of water from the hose or with insecticidal soap. But here's another suggestion, one that's a lot more fun; get some tape! Wrap a wide strip of tape around your hand, sticky side out, and pat the leaves of plants infested with aphids. Concentrate on the undersides of leaves, because that's where the little critters like to hide.

9. The next time you boil or steam vegetables, don't pour the water down the drain, use it to water potted patio plants, and you'll be amazed at how the plants respond to the "vegetable soup."

10. Use left over tea and coffee grounds to acidify the soil of acid-loving plants such as azaleas, rhododendrons, camellias, gardenias and even blueberries. A light sprinkling about one-quarter of an inch applied once a month will keep the pH of the soil on the acidic side.

11. The quickest way in the world to dry herbs, just lay a sheet of newspaper on the seat of your car, arrange the herbs in a single layer, then roll up the windows and close the doors. Your herbs will be quickly dried to perfection. What's more, your car will smell great.
